NEW DELHI

A NOTE FROM THE FOUNDER

Nair & Co is a law practice, and most of this profile is about the law: the forums we appear in, the statutes we work with and the matters we take on. But the way a firm behaves decides whether any of that is worth having, so I will begin there.

I am a first-generation lawyer. Nobody handed me a practice or a network, and I would not call myself self-made either; that would be dishonest. Seniors took a chance on me, and friends taught me, trusted me and looked out for me. I don't think anybody is completely self-made, and the firm is run on that understanding.

I have always believed that who you are matters more than what you do. Trust has to run both ways, and we try to be people clients can rely on, including when things are at their lowest. Ego has its place, on the other side of the courtroom; inside the team, there is none.

I have little patience for pitching, or for networking that treats people as transactions. Most of our work comes by introduction, and many of our clients have become friends.

What follows sets out how we think, and then what we do.

TUSHAAR NAIR

ADVOCATE, SUPREME COURT OF INDIA · FOUNDER, NAIR & CO

Tushaar Nair (also written Tushar Nair) is an advocate practising before the Supreme Court of India. A first-generation lawyer, born and bred in Delhi and raised by his grandmother, he was enrolled with the Bar Council of Delhi in 2024 and founded Nair & Co, formerly T Nair Chambers.

His Supreme Court work has included inter-state water disputes, including the Krishna and Cauvery water disputes and the Mullaperiyar Dam matter, in proceedings before the Supreme Court and the Krishna Water Disputes Tribunal: briefing senior advocates and drafting applications on questions of inter-state water law, statutory interpretation, public law and the allocation of water resources.

In electricity, he has worked on matters in a state electricity sector involving state electricity authorities and power-sector entities, and on an arbitration between a state power utility and a public-sector power corporation. He has assisted in arbitrations at the Delhi International Arbitration Centre.

He appears independently before the Supreme Court, the Delhi and Punjab & Haryana High Courts, the NCLT, the CAT, consumer forums and district courts, in civil, commercial, contractual, recovery, property and regulatory disputes. He also appears before the Madras High Court and other High Courts.

SEVEN PRINCIPLES

I

TRUST

A two-lane road. Traffic both ways.

We ask clients to tell us everything, including the parts they would rather leave out. In return, we have to earn that candour, and keep earning it. Signing an engagement letter does not put everything on the table. Trust does, and it has to run both ways.

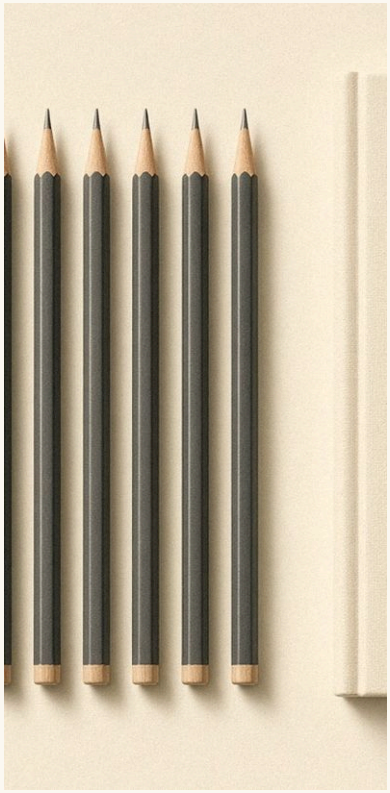

II

We keep time. Yours especially.

We learnt our manners from an older generation of gentlemen: arrive on time, return the call, answer the letter properly. It is old-fashioned, and we intend to keep it that way.

III

DISCIPLINE

Seven pencils, one length. Nobody asked.

The habits that hold up on a playing field are the ones that hold up on the page and in court. Do the work; learn by doing, not by waiting for permission. We keep those habits everywhere, not only where someone is watching.

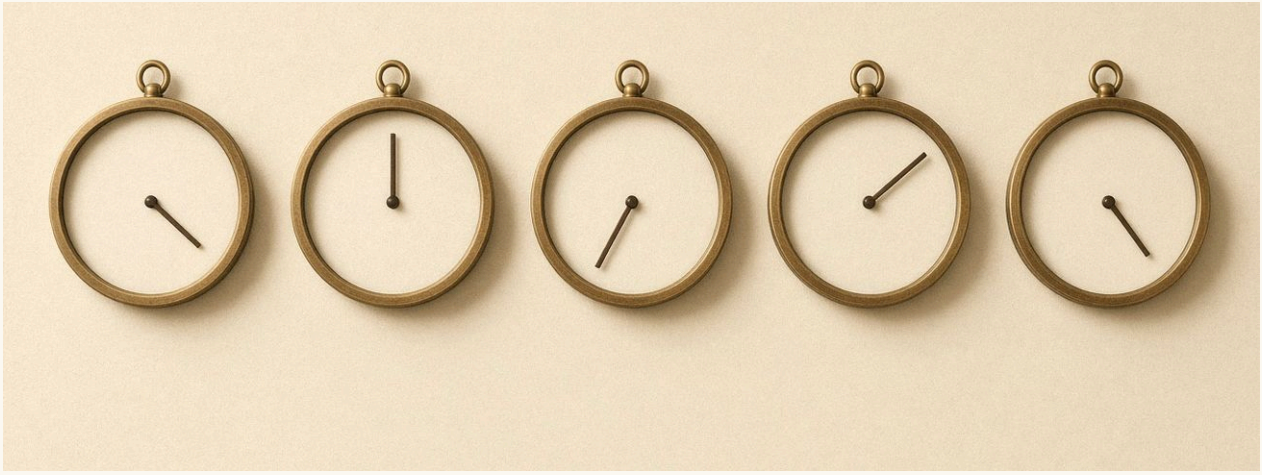

IV

Office hours are a formality.

People usually arrive with a legal matter. Many stay for much more: a sounding board, a second view on a business, an introduction that changes something. Most of our clients have become friends, and friends call when they need to, at whatever hour. What counts is being someone a person can rely on when things are at their lowest, not only when they are going well.

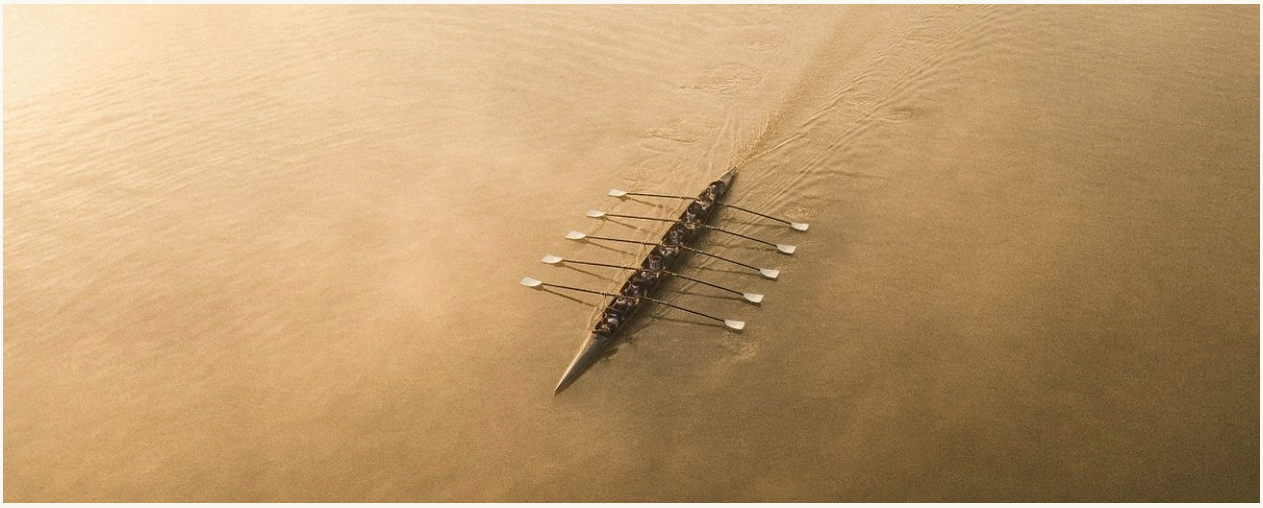

V

A NETWORK, BOTH WAYS

Five cities. Never all asleep at once.

Our cross-border advisory work sits in a network that runs across Delhi, London, Mumbai, Hyderabad and Dubai. Opportunities travel in both directions: our clients meet the network, and the network meets our clients.

VI

NO EGO, INSIDE THE TEAM

Eight oars. One direction.

Ego has its place: on the other side of the courtroom. Inside the team, there is none, because nobody is completely self-made. We may come in as the lawyers on a matter, but our clients often end up helping one another in ways that have nothing to do with law. Take care of your people: we want our clients to prosper, and the people they employ to be paid on time and to grow with them. Everyone in the relationship should come out of it larger than they went in, us included. It is never about one person.

VII

BY INTRODUCTION

A bar, not a dinner. Either side can leave after one drink.

Most of our work comes by introduction, and the first meeting is a mutual one, between equals: each side takes the measure of the other, and nobody is there to say 'I'm paying you'. We do not pitch, and we have little use for networking that treats people as transactions; one real conversation does more than an evening of small talk. Tushaar Nair also founded The Big Dinner, a private dinner series built on the same instinct: business talk is left at the door, who someone is matters more than what they do, and the point is to build rooms where others find their people.

FEATURED PRACTICE

ELECTRICITY & POWER

We read the fine print on the grid.

Electricity regulation in India is divided across commissions, a tribunal and contract. The Central Electricity Regulatory Commission, the Appellate Tribunal for Electricity and the state electricity commissions each have their own procedure; tariff, licensing, open access and power purchase agreements sit across those forums, and often in arbitration as well.

CERC & APTEL

Filings before the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission, tariff petitions, inter-state transmission disputes, and appeals before the Appellate Tribunal for Electricity.

LICENSING & APPROVALS

Generation, transmission and distribution licences, open access, and grid-connection disputes.

REGULATORY RISK

The commissions, the licence and the contract behind a power project, set out before capital is committed.

STATE COMMISSIONS

India has 36 state and UT electricity commissions, each with its own procedure. The work is to identify the forum and the record it requires.

PPA DISPUTES & ARBITRATION

Power purchase agreement disputes, renegotiations and arbitration, before CERC, state commissions or under institutional rules.

CROSS-BORDER STRUCTURING

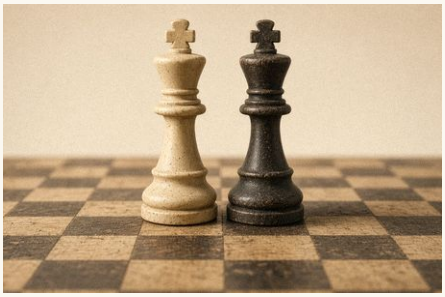

Foreign investment in the power sector: FEMA, sectoral caps and regulatory approvals.

EXPERIENCE

Matters in a state electricity sector involving state electricity authorities and power-sector entities; an arbitration between a state power utility and a public-sector power corporation; assistance in arbitrations at the Delhi International Arbitration Centre.

PRACTICE

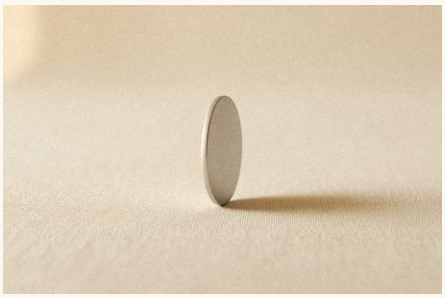

DISPUTES & ARBITRATION

COURTROOM LITIGATION

Two kings, one square. Someone will need a court.

Advocacy before the Supreme Court of India, the Delhi High Court and the Punjab & Haryana High Court, also the Madras High Court and other High Courts, and before tribunals, consumer forums and district courts: civil, commercial, contractual, recovery, property and regulatory disputes.

ARBITRATION

Heads, tails, or a tribunal.

Commercial arbitration, including power-sector arbitration between utilities and public-sector corporations, and arbitrations at the Delhi International Arbitration Centre. Commercial disputes, stuck receivables and broken partnerships.

NCLT & COMPANY LAW

For when the music stops.

Company proceedings before the National Company Law Tribunal, and appeals before the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal.

LAND & PROPERTY

The key is in the title.

Land, property, civil and commercial disputes before the Supreme Court, including work briefing senior advocates.

INTER-STATE WATER DISPUTES

Proceedings before the Supreme Court and the Krishna Water Disputes Tribunal, including the Krishna and Cauvery water disputes and the Mullaperiyar Dam matter: inter-state water law, statutory interpretation, public law and the allocation of water resources.

PRACTICE

CORPORATE & CROSS-BORDER

CORPORATE ADVISORY

Counted, and accounted for.

Corporate structure, governance and the documents of a business, including for cash-heavy businesses and Indian family offices.

PRIVATE EQUITY & FUNDING

Before the cheque book opens.

Private equity and corporate funding, including negotiations with prospective investors; work with investment-banking partners in Mumbai, Bahrain, the GCC and Europe on funding, private capital and strategic transactions.

INDIA MARKET ENTRY

Liaison office, branch, subsidiary or joint venture, each with different regulatory, tax and repatriation consequences; FDI policy, sector approvals, FEMA and Reserve Bank reporting; joint-venture, shareholder, distribution and supply agreements.

OMAN & THE GCC

Warehousing, logistics and distribution in Oman and the wider GCC, including the legal, regulatory and tax position of the Sohar Free Zone and port; for pharmaceutical trading, infrastructure, manufacturing, chemicals and medical technology.

M&A, BANKING & CONSULTANCY

Mergers and acquisitions and business expansion are handled by dedicated teams; investment banking and management consultancy are delivered with strategic alliances and partner firms.

PRACTICE

REGULATORY & SPECIALIST

FCRA

Foreign contributions. Domestic consequences.

Registration, prior permission and five-year renewals before the Ministry of Home Affairs; designated accounts, utilisation and sub-granting; show-cause, suspension and cancellation; governance and cross-border funding for foundations and non-profits. Invited to appear before the Joint Parliamentary Committee examining the FCRA Amendment Bill, 2026 (September 2026).

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

A mark is only as good as its impression.

Protection and enforcement: counterfeit goods, infringement, notices, trademark registration and the commercial use of intellectual property.

DATA PROTECTION

Sealed, and meant to stay that way.

AVIATION

Remain seated until the regulations have come to a complete stop.

Matters involving businesses in aviation.

EMPLOYMENT & LABOUR

Employment contracts, termination risk, contractor classification, PF, ESI, gratuity and the Labour Codes, state Shops and Establishments rules, restructuring and exits, for companies employing in India.

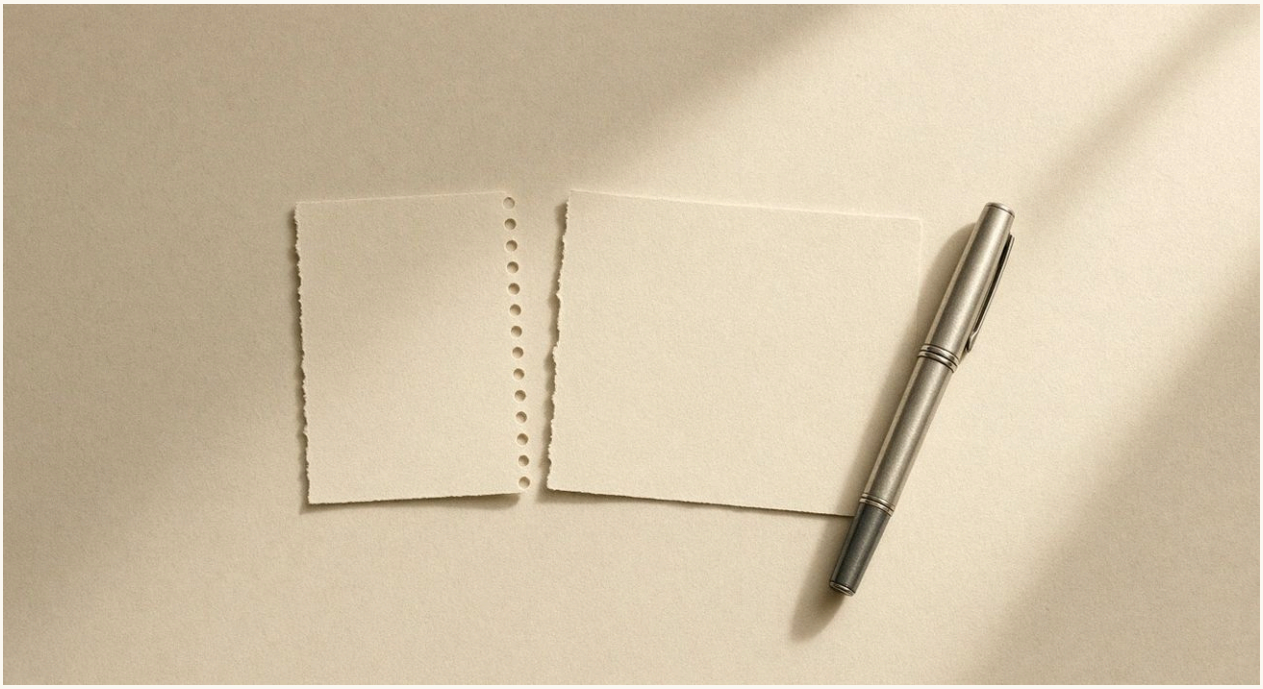

SERVICE LAW & POLICY

Service matters before the Central Administrative Tribunal and the Supreme Court; statutes, regulators and sector policy, advised upon by a dedicated team.

CRISIS & ONE-TIME SETTLEMENT

The Advisory Team works on the business side of the firm: crisis advisory, and one-time-settlement (OTS) advisory for companies facing lenders or the Debts Recovery Tribunal.

The work has covered companies facing financial distress and the possibility of non-performing classification: funding strategy, restructuring, and negotiations with investors and financial stakeholders. Recovery work has involved financial institutions.

One-time settlement. The cheque, cut to size.

ALLIANCES	Strategic alliances and partner firms in investment banking and management consultancy across the GCC, the United Kingdom, Europe and the Americas; working relationships with investment-banking professionals and financial institutions in Mumbai and Bahrain.
TEAM	Each practice is delivered by a dedicated team.

ACROSS BORDERS

THE BIG DINNER: A NETWORK WE ACTUALLY KNOW

Introduced by name, not by directory.

Beyond the five cities in principle V, we also work with advisors across Europe. We would rather not call any of it a 'global network'; most firms say that, and it rarely means much. These are personal relationships, built over years.

Many of them began at The Big Dinner, Tushaar Nair's invitation-only gatherings, where every guest is chosen with intention. That is where the trust is formed. So when a client needs someone in another country, we do not hand over a directory listing. We introduce a person we know.

WHERE WE WORK WITH ADVISORS

Across Europe

HOW AN INTRODUCTION WORKS

A person we know, named, for the matter in front of you.

"We introduce a person we know, not a directory listing."

BEYOND CONTRACTS AND NEGOTIATIONS

We advise. You decide.

Drafting a contract and negotiating its terms is often where our work begins, not where it ends. When a client wants to grow, we also help them think through joint ventures, partnerships, collaborations and strategic alliances, in India and abroad.

We do this only when a client asks, and only as advisers. Where it helps, we draw on the people we know around the world. We do not make deals for their own sake. The client leads; our part is candid advice on the structure, the counterparty and the risk.

FORMS OF EXPANSION

Joint ventures
Partnerships
Collaborations
Strategic alliances

OUR ROLE

Advisory, and only at the client's request.

"The client leads. We advise."
